ENGLISH FIRM IS GIVEN CONTRACT

Will Supply Newest American Battleship With Her Turbine Drums.

Washington, September 11.—An English builder to-day was awarded the contract for turbine drums for the newest American battleship, No. 23, at a little more than one-third the price offered by the lowest American bidder. The accepted bid was $57,436, submitted to New York agents of the Cyclops Steel and Iron Works, Sheffield, England.

It is explained for the Navy Department to send a contract abroad, but the action to-day was justified by the tremendous difference between English and American prices. The Sheffield bid includes the payment of duty, and the only other work to be done by the builder the United States saves more than $100,000.

There were two American bidders—the Bethlehem Steel Company, $169,568, and the Midvale Steel Company, $169,572. The Carnegie Company, the only other bidder, was concerned to build the drums, did not bid.

Moore—Evans. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Lynchburg, Va., September 11.—The New Concord Presbyterian Church at Concord, was the scene of a brilliant wedding last evening at 6 o'clock, when Miss Sarah Elizabeth Evans, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T. W. Evans, of Concord, became the bride of Captain Jesse E. Moore, of Lynchburg. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. M. W. Elder, pastor of the church, who was assisted by Rev. Wallace T. Palmer, D. D., of Lynchburg, chaplain of the Home Guard, and Rev. S. C. Akers, an uncle of the bride, of Fairfield.

Miss Nancy Evans, the only sister of the bride, was her maid of honor. The best man was J. H. Moore, a brother of the groom, of Lynchburg. The other attendants were: Dr. S. C. Akers, Miss Eddy Wilson, Lieutenant R. Chess McGhee and Miss Florence Taylor, J. H. Phillips and Miss Mary Saunders Jones, W. D. Watts and Miss Mary Elder, J. S. Cooper and Miss Celeste Wilson, S. H. Wood and Miss Mary Harvey, G. M. Bell and Miss A. J. McGregor, Colonel Robert E. Craig, and Miss Thomas A. W. Jones and Miss Hodges, R. R. Yoder and Miss Bell May Evans, R. S. 5 Bollingbrook Street.
Petersburg, Va., September 11, 1913.

Mandell Miller, a merchant and manufacturer, doing business on Halifax Street, near Sycamore, committed suicide early this morning by hanging himself in his store. He employed a small force and usually started to work early. This morning about 7 o'clock, when one of the workmen entered the factory, he was startled to find the body of Mr. Miller hanging by a rope from a beam in the satchel room on the second floor. He immediately made known the fact to Mr. Miller's son at the store, and the body was cut down, but life was extinct.

It is supposed that Mr. Miller stood on a box or some other support to adjust the rope, and then knocked the box over. The cause of the suicide is unknown, but is supposed to have been ill health. He had been a sufferer for some time, though not confined to his home. He was a native of Russia, and had lived in Petersburg many years, was about fifty-five years old, and is survived by his wife, two sons and a daughter.

Just before the Boer War Mr. Miller led the club of shooting in the city where he engaged in business. He was arrested and imprisoned by the British on suspicion of giving information to the Boers. He was finally released, through the intervention of the United States government, brought about by the efforts of the late Congressman Francis T. Lassiter, and Mr. Miller returned to Petersburg.

His funeral will take place this afternoon from the residence on Adams Street, Rabbi Meyer conducting the services.

TO REPAIR BRIDGE.
Seaboard Air Line Agrees to Begin Work at Once.

Secretary Martin, of the Chamber of Commerce, was yesterday notified by Judge Rhea, of the State Corporation Commission, that the Seaboard Air Line Company has agreed to begin at once the work of repairing the bridge over the Appomattox River at Petersburg, and to complete the same by the end of the month of October. The cause of the delay in the work is the engineer, Mr. Scarborough. It is understood that the bridge is in a very bad state of repair.

General News Notes.
The Petersburg team, which closes the season here on Saturday, is the same, with two exceptions, that began it. It is proposed to honor the team and the pennant winner by a parade of the fans at the close of Saturday's game.

The funeral of Mrs. Anne Watson Woody took place from the residence on Market Street this morning at 11 o'clock. Many friends and relatives being present. The services were conducted by the Rev. Charles R. Stribbling, pastor of Tabb Street Presbyterian Church.

Sunday morning a number of the Knights of Columbus, will attend service at the Bohemian Catholic Church, in Prince George County.

Or Unmarried Men, With or Without Ambition, Who Appreciate $300 Cash.

Every once in a while the average married man goes down to the nearest poolroom for a diverting game, but for fascinating interest it is not comparable with the Booklovers' Contest game of solving pictures.

This contest game is all play, yet it supplies the way for you to profit by your indulgence.

It is simply a game of solving seventy-seven pictures. Each day a new picture appears, and to-day picture No. 48 is published. Each picture represents the title of a book, and to those coming nearest to naming the seventy-seven pictures represent The Times-Dispatch will give the $1,200 in awards.

There are two things you want to know right now: 1. How to get the forty-seven back pictures free. 2. About the catalogue containing

SPAIN WILL FIGURE QUITE PROMINENTLY

Thanks to King, Expected to Take Leading Part in Olympic Games.

BY LA MARQUISE DE PONTENVOY.
SPAIN, thanks to her King, who is so devoted to athletic sports of every kind, will figure quite prominently at the international Olympic games at Berlin two years hence. Everybody knows of his fondness for polo, a game in which he is an adept. But what most people in this country do not know is that largely due to his initiative, Spain is developing an enthusiasm for football; and he has just announced his intention of giving a very handsome cup each year for national football to the various football clubs in his dominions. There are no less than five important clubs of this kind in Madrid alone, and most of the cities and towns, both big and small, have their football clubs, and their football grounds. The games excite a tremendous amount of popular interest, almost as much, indeed, as the bullfights, though there is as yet no prospect of their supplanting the latter in popularity. The game played is association football.

Nor are polo and football the only manifestations of the rapid growth of the new athletic movement in Spain. Tennis, both court and lawn, golf, yachting and swimming, are likewise in vogue, while athletic meetings, with running, jumping, pole vaulting, etc., are being organized throughout the length and breadth of the land. Moreover, the Boy Scout movement has caught on, and is being actively fostered by the King and many of his leading nobles. It numbers already many thousands of Spanish boys. In Madrid there are about 5,000 of them alone, and the youngsters are full of enthusiasm.

Spain, indeed, has, through the influence mainly of her King, turned over a new leaf. The old days of physical indolence and inertia, which kept men lounging, smoking and resting in preference to anything else, putting off every possible exertion to the morrow, are passing away.

Don Alfonso has been largely assisted in the promotion of the athletic movement in his dominions by all those young Spaniards of good family, including some of his own Spanish kinsmen, who have been educated at the great Catholic colleges in England, and who have acquired there a pronounced taste for the various sports of the English-speaking races.

Incidentally, it may be stated that Spain is deriving a material benefit from the increase of over 200 per cent in the amount of the deposits of the various savings banks of the kingdom. The increase of 25 per cent in the number of depositors. Moreover, industry and trade are prospering to such an extent that the Spanish railroads find themselves just at present unable to handle the traffic, and to an insufficiency of cars, and are now engaged in endeavoring to purchase at once, or to lease abroad, 8,000 cars for immediate use.

A number of new hotels are going up in Madrid, where the principal thoroughfares are now being paved with asphalt and wood, in the place of those terrible cobblestones which have always been a point of complaint of the municipality. It is also equipping the metropolis with an entirely new sanitary and sewerage system of the most modern type.

Korostovitz, who is leaving Tehran, and who was there at the time of the dismissal of the American Treasurer-General Shuster, was appointed with the idea of inspiring confidence to Great Britain, as to the good faith of Russia in her joint action with England in Persia. He was a particular favorite in London, while first secretary and charge d'affaires there, belonged to what was known as King Edward's intimate set of friends, and was celebrated as one of the best bridge players in the United Kingdom. He is very rich, and has charming manners, but from a diplomatic point of view cannot be considered as a shining light. He does not possess sufficient energy and activity to play any role of that kind. (Copyright, 1913, by the Brentwood Company.)
